CONTENIDOS / CONTENTS

This course provides an advanced research seminar within the field of cultural and literary studies in the Anglophone world. Students will be offered the possibility of focusing on the dominant features of specific literary and cultural movements through the analysis of a selection of literary and cultural texts representative of relevant literary and cultural movements through a contextualization of their corresponding geographical backgrounds, historical periods and ideological concerns. Via an applied, practical methodology that includes the contemplation of issues such as the complex interrelations between literary creation, cultural and socio-political contexts, as well as theory, students will explore formal issues, ideological concerns, relevant themes and ideas from a critical contemporary perspective in order to account for the changes in the formation and ongoing evolution of literary canons in the Anglophone world.
